Arresting moves afoot on the Coach and Bus Studio stand

Graham Cole or PC Tony Stamp from the hit tv show The Bill is no stranger to transport and is at the show. If you have a copy of his autobiography or would like to purchase one at the show he is more than happy to sign it for you, or just turn up for a chat and a photo. He is with us for all 3 days and can be found on the Coach and Bus Studio stand T132.

Graham Cole has spent much of his working life involved with driving. From a young age he loved Go Carting, passed his driving test first time, then passed his St John Ambulance Driving test, got a racing license and spent 17 years travelling around the country in Theatre, often towing his home behind him! Thousands of miles were covered.

Then in 1984 along came the wonderful role of PC Tony Stamp in The Bill. Graham was never doubled in a driving Stunt on the show. His skill on the track and Having attended the Metropolitan Police Driving school course at Hendon many times, gave him an insight and training to portray this much loved copper on British television for over 25 years.

Graham has presented live shows at Motor shows, Trade shows and many displays showing his handling skills. He can be seen on Sky Television most nights presenting 'Police Stop' the very first time real Police chases were shown to the public.

He's a member of the Institute of Advanced Motorists and also president of The Association of Industrial Road Safety Officers (AIRSO) and a very proud liveryman with The Worshipful Company of Carmen, one of the oldest livery companies in The City of London.

If you go on You Tube Graham can be seen with Kenny Everett, Lulu and a Route Master Bus in a sketch again with a fabulous stunt.
